RAMA UNIVERSITY, MANDHANA, KANPUR (UP)

Faculty of Nursing

Proposal Performa for short term course on

FIRST AID AND RESCUE MANAGEMENT

Course description: - Faculty of Nursing is now accepting application for its short term course on First aid and rescue management for session 2021-22

Course overview: - An Emergency may occur anytime anywhere may be at home, workplace or any public place and if it is a medical emergency then we need to act immediately. Many deaths can be prevented if first aid is provided immediately. The initial assistance provided to the victim on injury or illness has a huge impact and it can preserve life, prevent worsening and promote recovery.

The basic first aid and basic life support training constitute knowledge, skills and techniques which can be performed with limited equipment and administered until the medical professional assistance arrives. This vital life-saving skill will retain the condition of the victim from deteriorating and makes them feel safe and secured.

Everyone requires basic first aid and basic life support knowledge to act and respond in any medical emergency condition. Recognizing what actions need to be taken to control the emergency situation will make the difference between life and death. More students/workers with knowledge of first Aid and life support will make the workplace safer and secure which can save someone's life.

The objective of this program is an endeavour to prepare students for implementation of first and rescue management activities in their daily living to safe guard the lives.

The course/training programme may be organized by the faculty of nursing. The programme should be self-financing (Fund should be raised through registration fees from Participants). The funds raised shall be deposited into the college accounts and operated by Principal investigator or co-investigator.

Co-investigator Mrs. Jasmi Manu, Principal, Faculty of Nursing emphasized on “First Aid & Rescue Management”. Mrs.S.Sumiya ,Asst. professor HOD Dept of Fundamentals of Nursing. Principal investigator was discussed about The basic first aid and basic life support training constitute knowledge, skills and techniques which can be performed with limited equipment and administered until the medical professional assistance arrives. This vital life-saving skill will retain the condition of the victim from deteriorating and makes them feel safe and secured.

Everyone requires basic first aid and basic life support knowledge to act and respond in any medical emergency condition. Recognizing what actions need to be taken to control the emergency situation will make the difference between life and death. More students/workers with knowledge of first Aid and life support will make the workplace safer and secure which can save someone's life.
