Objectives	The World Health Day celebrations at Rama University's Faculty of Dental Sciences emphasized the importance of good oral and general health and encouraged access to health facilities for all members of society. The programs conducted were aligned with the theme of "Health for All," which was aimed at raising awareness of the importance of providing equitable access to healthcare services for everyone.
Outcomes	World Health Day was witnessed by the Faculty of Dental Sciences at Rama University in Kanpur with a number of activities designed to encourage everyone to live in good health. Several events were planned by the Department of Public Health Dentistry, including a street play, and a slogan contest with the tagline "Health for Everyone." The street play was conducted by dental hygienist students at Rama Public School in Shivrajpur. The play focused on the significance of maintaining good oral and general hygiene, and it was well-received by the school students. Certificates were presented to the participants. The slogan competition was open to interns and undergraduate students. The winning slogan, "Health facilities should be accessible to every section of society, and everyone should use them to make the society healthy," was created by Arpita Tiwari.
